Drawings

The drawings are objected for following reasons.

Figure 1 is not designated by a legend such as "Prior Art". The legend is necessary in order to clarify what applicant's invention is (see MPEP § 608.02g).

Applicant is required to submit a proposed drawing correction, showing changes in red ink, in response to this Office action. However, formal correction of the noted defect(s) can be deferred until the application is allowed by the examiner (see MPEP 608.02v).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1, 3-5, 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In line 13 of claim 1, the applicant claims wherein the electrodes have an anode and a cathode formed alternately. "the electrodes" lacks antecedent basis. Also, here, does applicant intend to claim that first, second, and third electrodes ---act as--- cathode, anode and cathode respectively? For the examination purposes, the examiner assumes that the first, second, and third electrodes act as cathode and anode formed alternately. Claims 3 and 4 are included in the rejection due to their dependency on rejected base claim.

In line 2 of claim 3, the applicant claims "an electrode for transmitting EL light ". IS this electrode separate/different than the first, second , and third electrodes described in claim 1? Also, starting line 5, it is not clear at all as to what exactly the applicant is attempting to claim with "b) another metal wherein the electrodes is provided on a boundary between the electrodes which are cathodes and the EL layer". Similar situations also appear in claims 5 and 9. Claims 7, 8, and 10 are included in the rejection due to their dependency on rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2, 4, 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Utsugi (US 5837391).

Regarding claim 1, Utsugi discloses an organic EL display device (see figure 20) comprising a substrate (40), a first electrode/anode (42a), a first organic EL layer (22a), a second electrode/cathode (42b), a second organic EL layer (22b), and a third electrode/anode (42c).

Regarding claim 2, Utsugi discloses additional limitation of odd numbered and even numbered electrodes being connected to a first and second electrode terminals (see lines 4-12 of column 18 or figure 5).

Regarding claims 4 and 6, it should be noted that limitation of "An information terminal" appears only in a preamble and thus intended use limitation not affording any patentable weight. Alternatively, the EL display of Utsugi "displays" information of some kind since it is a display. ✓

Claims 1-2, 4, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Forrest et al (US 6297516).

Regarding claim 1, Forrest discloses an organic EL display device (figure 7b) comprising a substrate (not labeled), a first electrode (121) on the substrate, a first organic EL layer (110) on the first electrode, a second electrode (112) on the first EL layer, a second EL layer (114) on the second electrode, and a third electrode layer (116) on the second EI layer. Forrest's electrodes act as cathode and anode formed alternately.

Regarding claim 2, Forrest additionally discloses odd numbered and even numbered electrodes are connected to a first and second electrode terminals (121b and 121c).

Regarding claims 4 and 6, it should be noted that limitation of "An information terminal" appears only in a preamble and thus intended use limitation not affording any patentable weight. Alternatively, the EI display of Forrest "displays" information of some kind since it is a display.
